Eligibility:

Cadre and students attending classes at Army Sustainment University may submit essay entries. Essays must be original, not previously published, and completed while attending the university during the submission period. Entries cannot be submitted for publication to any other journal or academic press concurrent with this competition. Two or more students or cadre may coauthor an entry, and international students enrolled in ASU courses may compete. There are separate categories for cadre and students. Individuals may only submit one entry to the competition, and only one entry will be considered if an individual submits multiple essays.
